NCCS- Nutrition Child Care Session- Under NCCS Pragati Grameen Vikas Samiti is working at 150 ICDS centers in three rounds. Nutritional Counseling and Childcare Session is a powerful and effective process based on the principle of "Learning by Doing" for engaging the community for effective management of SAM and MAM children within the community. It has a community-based Program led by trained AWWs and PGVS Field facilitators to create a movement in for reduction and prevention of child malnutrition through community mobilization to promote early childhood care and nutritional practices by service providers through positive child care practices at household / community level this will help in changing the behavior and practices around child nutrition. It is a three days session in a month where mothers/father or caregivers of under nourished children especially SAM / MAM come at ICDS Centers for supervised feeding and learning positive practices through participatory learning — First day screening of children and on day two there is a counseling session with the mother of malnourished children (SAM/MAM). Anganwadi worker (AWW) and field facilitators at the Anganwadi center (AWC) usually conducts the session with all the mothers of SAM/MAM in the community who are already members of the mothers' group of local AWC. The AWW counsel on Infant and Young Child Feeding and WASH and demonstrate age appropriate feeding practices. The caregivers of the malnourished children are requested to practice the same good practices at home for the speedy recovery of malnourished children. Regular follow up visits made by field facilitators to observe the household level feeding practices by mothers and provide age appropriate counseling on child feeding and hygiene practices. These sessions empower the caregivers on child under nutrition and build their confidence in rehabilitating their children in nearby Nutrition Rehabilitation Centers in case of any complications among SAM children.
