Case Study-01

The village Churaman Nagar situated in the foothills of mountain Pretshila in the Nagar Block which is twelve (12) KM in the North of Headquarter, Gaya. The people of the village are most marginalized and they are mainly work as labour in the city to sustain his life.

When the PGVS staff visit to village they saw disability people and garbage spread in the village. When the PGVS staff communicate to the people they found that Seventy-Six (76) people are disable and usual colour of teeth when we want the reason behind it the people told that it is the shine of God or a black magic.

When PGVS staff goes deeply behind the situation they found that fluoride in the water by the water quality test in District water quality testing lab, Gaya. Due to the fluoride contamination in water the disability occurs and it also affect colour of teeth.

Fluoride is a chemical which is found in water if it increases from 1 PPM it causes Dental disease, Skelton disease and Non-Skelton disease.

and give knowledge about the fluorosis and the water quality, Sanitation and Behaviour change and also the effect and how to cure from fluorosis.

The contamination of fluoride in the water of Churaman Nagar is at 9 PPM.

The PGVS started to campaign in the village on fluorosis. First, we do meet with community

PGVS has installed removal unit in the Handpump near the house of Mahesh Manjhi. Before the installation of FRU the fluoride contamination is 6.9 PPM now it comes to Zero (0) PPM.

Now this water is fit for drinking. There are 39 house hold gaining access safe drinking water and decrease fluorosis from his body and make his/her life health.

Case Study -02

The village Badauan is situated in the Fatehpur block of Gaya district. Which is 35 KM from Headquarter, Gaya in the east direction. In the village there is Mahadalit tola where a people live name Sadhu Manjhi. He blind and his wife is disable from her both legs.

Sadhu Manjhi visit door to door play with drum and sing local folk song and beg money to sub stain his livelihood. There are many problems in his life but problem of water is more. He travels 200 meters from his house to the Water Source for daily uses on the main road of Fatehpur to Wazirganj. Many times he fold on and make injuries for the water. The PGVS staff visit the Sadhu Manjhi house and discussed their problem in the PGVS office. After that PGVS has installed Handpump in his house. Now they use handpump properly and no more risk his life for water.

WASH on Wheels-IHRF

PGVS work in kumbh for awareness regarding SBM with support of IHRF . During this period we motivate to people to keep clean and use safe drinking water through WASH on Wheels mobile theater.

Lallan Singh, a 60-year-old devotee of the Ganga, has only one complaint — no one calls him by his name anymore. Dressed in a khadi kurta and white dhoti, the farmer from Bihar has played Mahatma Gandhi effortlessly for so many times till now that the name has stuck to him. “Everyone calls me Gandhiji. No one remembers my real name. But I like it,” he smiles.

Part of a local voluntary organization that works for Swachhta awareness, he has become the face of all campaigns, be it in his village or on the national stage.

On Thursday, when President Ram Nath Kovind visits Kumbh, ‘Gandhiji’ will lead a rally to pledge protection of the Ganga.

A father of four and grandfather of six, Lallan also doubles up as the team’s driver.

“I drive the tractor on my fields and truck on the highway. And I do it better than these young lads,” he says proudly. And the young lads in the group agree. The first time Lallan played Gandhi was at a local Saraswati Puja in his village Bharsara in Jagdishpur block, Bhojpur district. “It was in 2017 at a college in my village. The theme was Swachhta. Someone said ‘Let’s make Lallan chacha play Gandhi ji’. That’s where it started and now I have played the same role in about 10 events,” he says as a warm smile covers his face.

Ask him what makes him perfect for the role and he says it’s just God’s grace that he is the chosen one. His team members, though, say it’s his calm demeanor, smiling face and the shape of his moustache.

Passionate about protecting the Ganga, Lallan loves his celebrity status at this age.

He has one unfilled wish though. He couldn’t be on stage with his wife. “She could have played Kasturba with me. She passed away last year due to illness,” he says. Lallan and his team, Pragati Gramin Vikas Samiti, are not paid any money for these events. They say it is in the service of the environment and mother Ganga.

Samiti members are mostly farmers, drivers and students engaged in awareness around sanitation and cleanliness. They spread the message through puppet shows, plays, art, dance and songs. The Kumbh programme before the President is their first big event. The rehearsals are on in full swing but Savita, the manager of the team, has one concern.

Thank you very much for your support and cooperation
